(From left to right – Mr. Anil Manocha, CIIM President; Mr. Amit Goyal, Vice President, Federation of Indian Export Organizations (FIEO) & Mr. Ajay Sahai, Director General, FIEO; Mr. Vinesh Kr. Kalra, Second Secretary, High Commission of India, Kuala Lumpur; Dato' Hafshah Hashim, CEO, SME Corp. The increasing bilateral trade between Malaysia and India has opened up numerous opportunities for small and medium enterprises (SMEs) in both nations to seize. The ever expanding marketplace has encouraged the growth of SMEs, with many taking advantage of the trade agreements between the two countries. To better understand the power and strength of SMEs and to facilitate a dialogue for SMEs of both countries, the Consortium of Indian Industries in Malaysia (CIIM) and SME Corporation Malaysia along with the High Commissioner of India, Kuala Lumpur co-organised an event titled “SME: Global Champions”, which was held at the Hotel Mandarin Oriental on 23rd September 2013.

According to CIIM chairman Anil Manocha, “India offers vast business opportunities and learning experience that Malaysian companies can leverage on. Malaysia, on the other hand, provides a stable and conducive environment, serving as an ideal gateway for Indian companies to do business in the Asean market,” Anil explained. He also pointed out that India has about 30 million registered SMEs and 20 million unregistered ones at present compared with Malaysia’s 660,000 registered SMEs.

His Excellency Mr. Vijay Gokhale, the high commissioner of India to Malaysia had said in his written speech that with India’s ‘Look East’ policy and expansion of ties with Asian, India’s relations with Malaysia was on the upswing. He stated that in last few years, the economic and commercial relationship between the two countries has emerged as the mainstay of the bilateral relationship and that the Indian business is not only looking at Malaysia as an important bilateral partner, but also as a hub and gateway to the ASEAN community. He also pointed out that the bilateral trade between Malaysia and India has totalled to US$13.32 billion last year alone, which represented a 6% year-on-year growth and both the country looked set to achieve the revised target of US$20 billion by 2015.

The industry is dominated by large integrated players consisting of both Indian and international service providers. During the year, the share of Indian providers went up to 65 per cent-70 per cent due to the emerging trend of monetization of captives. India's IT and BPO sector exports are expected to grow by 12-14 per cent in FY14 to touch US$ 84 billion - US$ 87 billion, according to Nasscom.

IT spending in India is projected to reach US$ 71.5 billion in 2013, an increase of 7.7 per cent as compared to US$ 66.4 billion projected for 2012, as per a report by Gartner. The enterprise software market in India is expected to reach US$ 3.92 billion in 2013, registering a growth of 13.9 per cent over 2012 revenue of US$ 3.45 billion, according to Gartner.

Investments

Indian IT's core competencies and strengths have placed it on the international canvas, attracting investments from major countries.

Between April 2000 and June 2013, the computer software and hardware sector attracted cumulative foreign direct investment (FDI) of Rs 53,757.60 crore (US$ 7.97 billion), according to data released by the Department of Industrial Policy and Promotion (DIPP).

More recently, online retailing, cloud computing and e-commerce are the major driving forces behind the rapidly increasing growth in the IT industry. Online shopping has increased with the emergence of internet retailing and e-commerce.

Government Initiatives

As a part of the National Electronics Policy, the Government of India is planning to set-up 15 new laboratories under public-private-partnership (PPP) model for hardware and software testing. The labs will facilitate registration and testing of IT products before they are launched in the market.

FDI upto 100 per cent under the automatic route is allowed in Data processing, software development and computer consultancy services; software supply services; business and management consultancy services, market research services, technical testing & analysis services.

In the 12th Five Year Plan (2012-17), the Department of Information Technology proposes to strengthen and extend the existing core infrastructure projects to provide more horizontal connectivity, build redundancy connectivity, undertake energy audits of State Data Centers (SDCs) etc. The core infrastructure including fibre optic based connectivity will be leveraged and additional 150,000 Common Service Centres (CSCs) will be setup to create the right Governance and service delivery ecosystem at the Panchayats.

Some of the major initiatives taken by the Government to promote IT and ITeS sector in India are:

- The Government of India has fast tracked the process of setting up of centres of National Institute of Electronics and Information Technology (NIELIT) in Northeast India
- The Government of Brazil has liberalised the issue of short term work visas, a move which will make it easier for Indian IT professionals to take up assignments in Brazil
- India and Vietnam have signed two memorandums of understanding (MoU) for partnership in the field of information, communications and technology (ICT)
- The Cabinet has recently approved the National Policy on Information Technology 2012. The policy aims to increase revenues of IT and ITES industry from US$ 100 billion to US$ 300 billion by 2020 and expand exports from US$ 69 billion to US$ 200 billion by 2020

The Government of India plans to set up 15 new laboratories for testing hardware and software products under public-private partnership (PPP) model

Road Ahead

As IT is increasingly gaining traction in small and medium business activities, the sector offers impressive growth opportunities and is estimated at approximately US$ 230 billion–US$ 250 billion by 2020. In a bid to reduce cost, governments across the world are exploring outsourcing and global sourcing options.

Technologies, such as telemedicine, mHealth, remote monitoring solutions and clinical information systems, would continue to boost demand for IT service across the globe. IT sophistication in the utilities segment and the need for standardization of the process are expected to drive demand.

Digitization of content and increased connectivity is leading to a rise in IT adoption by media. Emerging technologies present an entire new gamut of opportunities for IT firms in India. Social, mobility, analytics and cloud (SMAC) provide US$ 1 trillion opportunity. Cloud represents the largest opportunity under SMAC, increasing at a CAGR of approximately 30 per cent to around US$ 650 billion–US$ 700 billion by 2020. Social media is the second most lucrative segment for IT firms, offering a US$ 250 billion market opportunity by 2020.
